Alzheimer's Disease

Memory and Aging

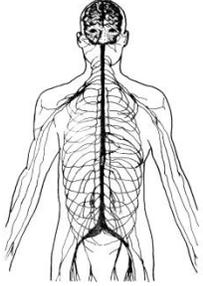

Receiving and applying God's thoughts and feelings that come to us enhances the flow of energy to our brains and nerve centers. The Spirit of God will always bring to our remembrance principles from the Word of God to give us guidance and direction. Remembering what is important to God and applying it in life assists in strengthening the memory centers in the brain.

As we age and our body begins to slow down, we may begin to notice memory issues. It is a time of learning how to live more simply. We start off as children, living in the moment and finding delight in the simple things of life. When we are older, the beauty of living in the moment returns to us. We can share with others the wisdom and experience that we have gained throughout the years. This phase of life holds within it times of reflection that help us appreciate the value and purpose of our lives. By looking for more ways to do good, the more new opportunities will find us and open new doors for us to share with others. Documenting our life's journey with friends or family helps us to remember the important milestones in our lives. What we have learned and experienced will someday help another, in this world and in the world to come. Always be appreciative for your life and the experiences you have gained. It was lived for a divine purpose and has made you the person you are today.

Spiritual Causes of Alzheimer's Disease

Alzheimer's disease, which is a form of dementia, is caused by an abnormal production of a protein in the brain. This causes people to lose their memories. This blockage of protein represents a block in dealing with the real issues in life. As a result, we are kept from remembering what is truly important in our own lives.

Alzheimer's disease corresponds to forgetting God in our lives. The disease reveals its own cause. According to God Can Heal You, Alzheimer's reflects a "refusal to use knowledges learned (in memory) for God and good; laziness in applying God's Word to life's situations."¹ When we forget God's reality and do not maintain the truths that we know by applying them in life, we will find ourselves incapable of remembering what is important in our own lives. memory centers of our brain. The power of the truth through application and prayer can realign our minds with God's will and purpose for our lives. As we endeavor to follow His thoughts and feelings on a daily basis, the spirit connection with God can free our spirit from the toxins that error has caused from the lack of use in implementing God's gifts and talents in our lives.
